

Choose to be a literacy leader!

Choose to be a literacy changemaker!

If you are interested in promoting literacy within your community and the state, consider a leadership role within the Wyoming State Literacy Association (WSLA), a state affiliate of the International Literacy Association (ILA).

ILA members throughout the world work together to

- influence policies and procedures
- change attitudes
- improve teaching practices
- build literacy understanding
- and provide services to others.

These far-reaching objectives are successfully accomplished when chapter and affiliate members create and use information and communication networks, conduct projects, raise scholarships funds, publish information on education, collaborate with business and professional groups, formulate and support resolutions on specific issues, and offer professional programs and conferences.

If this sounds like an opportunity that catches your attention, join us for WSLA Chapter Leader Training with a representative from ILA to learn more about how to tap into and grow local networks to collaborate with colleagues around the state, strategically plan local and statewide literacy initiatives, and contribute our voices and expertise to the local and global literacy movement.

When: June 10, 2019 (evening, times TBD) & June 11, 2019 (8 a.m.-5 p.m.)

Where: Literacy Research Center and Clinic, University of Wyoming, Laramie

** Lunch is provided **

***The first two members who commit (who are not current WSLA Leadership members) will receive a $150 stipend after the meeting.

Please reach out Becky Davis, WSLA Chair, at bdavis@park6.org for more information.
